

Your patient data is not trapped.

An introduction to the two firms in the room, and the one thing we checked before we met you.

Who you are working with

Two firms, one job. Toggle leads the engagement and owns everything technical. Milkyway is our delivery partner on paid media and messaging, and they are the ones who brought us your case.

LEAD PARTNER

Toggle Solutions

A Malaysian growth firm that diagnoses the whole revenue system before spending on any channel. Senior operators only, with no junior layer between you and the work. On your account we own the data, the tracking, and the connection between your clinic software and your marketing.

How we work

Diagnosis before prescription, every time. We would rather spend two weeks proving what is actually wrong than sell you twelve months of the wrong fix.

01

Diagnose

Find what is really limiting growth before recommending anything.

02

Prove it

Test the assumption cheaply and show you the result in writing.

03

Build

Ads, messaging and the data connection between them.

04

Feed it back

Send real outcomes to the ad platforms so they learn what a good patient looks like.

And the honest part: if the diagnosis says your problem is not marketing, we say so. We have walked away from a retainer for exactly that reason and said so publicly. You will hear the same directness from us on your software question today.

WHAT WE CHECKED BEFORE TODAY

Your data is not trapped

We were told getting data out of Kreloses is the thing blocking you. So we went and read what Kreloses says about it themselves.

"Your data always belongs to you. You can export your complete database whenever you want, no restrictions and no fees."

Kreloses pricing page, checked 29 July 2026

That is on their public pricing page and you can check it in five minutes. Our read is that the export does work, and that whoever tried it received raw files with internal codes and no labels, which is unusable to anybody running a clinic. That is a formatting problem, not a lock-in problem, and it changes what your options actually are.

What we still need to check

Everything we know so far came to us second hand, so we are not going to present it back to you as fact. Three questions decide the whole shape of this, and only you can answer them.

What exactly fails on uploads?

Is it file size, the number of files per patient, total storage, or file types it refuses? For a veneers practice your photos and scans are the case record, so this is the question that decides whether you should change systems at all.

What does your Kreloses agreement allow?

Before we automate anything against your account we want to read your subscription terms and confirm what automated access they permit. We are not going to put your live clinic system at risk to save you a manual step.

Where do enquiries land today?

Who answers them, how fast, and what happens to the ones that do not book. This tells us whether your problem is reach, response, or follow-up, and those need three different fixes.

What we need from you today

Give us these and we can come back with a costed recommendation rather than a brochure. If the answer turns out to be simple, we will tell you that and skip the second meeting.

To understand the practice

- 01 Roughly how many enquiries come in a month, and how many turn into consultations
- 02 What an average veneers case is worth to you
- 03 Who handles enquiries now, and on which channels
- 04 What you mean by a chatbot: WhatsApp, Instagram, or your website

To scope the work

- 05 A budget range, so we recommend something you would actually buy
- 06 Your Kreloses subscription agreement, and which plan you are on
- 07 Fifteen minutes screen sharing Kreloses with whoever uses it daily
- 08 Who signs off marketing, since your dentist has to approve creative

What you get back: a written answer on whether to keep or change your software, and a costed plan for the marketing. Nothing in this deck commits you to either.
